Snapshots Through the Years

Welcome to the second issue of Lovebug Letters!
I'm so glad you're here!

It's always hard to say goodbye to the characters after I finish writing their story, so I thought this magazine would be a fun way to get a peek into their lives after giving them their "happily ever after".

This issue features Lucy and Micah Chan from Tropical Kiss and Tell. They are actually my favorite couple that I've ever written! Theirs is a true friends-to-lovers story that took some twists and turns before they eventually realized the special place each one had for the other in their heart. Let's take a look at how their young family is doing now.

ABOUT

Falling in love with the girl next door was never part of his plan ... until she fell for someone else.

Micah Chan has loved Lucy Choi ever since they were kids, but life—and some regretful decisions—stopped him from pursuing her. Now he has a choice to make: Let her marry another man or break up her engagement to make this Christmas the most memorable one of their lives?

Micah and Lucy were introduced as children in the respective books Tropical Kiss or Miss and Taking a Chance on the Enemy. Meet them now as adults on the brink of discovering their own happily-ever-after.

Fans of split-time romance will enjoy this story that takes place in two timelines and highlights how decisions from the past can affect the future.*

TROPICAL KISS AND TELL

MICAH

Lucy says:

Micah is still my best friend and the boy I fell in love with all those years ago. I'm so proud of the man he's become and how well he takes care of the people around him. He is first and foremost a loving and supportive husband and father. He also enjoys his work as a school counselor at Edenvale Arts Academy—this time it was me who got him the job through my Hollywood connections. We still carpool to work every day and have fun chaperoning dances together!

"Being with you, Lucy, is like watching the sun set. You know what's going to happen and you don't expect anything new because you've seen it before, but it still surprises you with its beauty."

LUCY

Micah says:

Lucy is still Lucy—beautiful, headstrong, and full of life. She fills my days with laughter and my life with more love than I could have ever imagined. She continues to amaze me with her passionate nature, especially in her role as a mom to our twin boys. Her drama class is one of the most popular ones at Edenvale, and all the students say I'm lucky that she married me. I couldn't agree more!

“You just gotta have faith that God will work things out. A wise boy taught me that a long time ago.”
